

This was my soft place—something that was only mine. I don't really need it anymore so I figured we could use it to test your powers.

Other than that, he didn't really want to know what, and I quote, 'killed someone or something equally horrible'.

He never wanted to know what The Doctor

I'd bet. No parent wants to file a police report on their child.

The charges were dropped!

No I—Okay maybe but most of them weren't my fault!

He was kind and everything's gone down his after that.

True, a lot of them were accidents or things you just fall into.

Speaking of things you fall into...
